Voluntary organisations engaged in welfare of orphans and destitutes

*319. SHRI S.S. AHLUWALIA: Will the Minister of SOCIAL JUSTICE AND EMPOWERMENT be pleased to state:

(a) the details of the voluntary organisations working for welfare of orphans and destitute children especially among the tribals in Jharkhand, indicating places and the nature of activity the respective organisations engaged therein and the estimated number of beneficiaries;

(b) the details of funds provided by Government to each organisation during the last five years, year-wise;

(c) whether any organisation has been black-listed during the period; and

(d) if so, the details thereof, including action taken against them?

THE MINISTER OF SOCIAL JUSTICE AND EMPOWERMENT (SHRIMATI MEIRA KUMAR): (a) to (d) 43 units of 10 children each run by 40 Non-Government Organisations (NGOs) were assisted during 2004-05 under the Scheme of Assistance to Homes for Children (Shishu Greh). 199 NGOs were assisted under "An Integrated Programme for Street Children" covering 44,934 children. The voluntary organisations provide facilities like shelter, nutrition, safe drinking water and health care. The Childline service which is a 24-hour toll free emergency service for children in distress is also supported under this scheme. Any child in distress can access the service by dialing a toll free number 1098 and obtain emergency assistance which includes medical help, shelter, repatriation, rescue from abuse etc. The service is available for all children including tribal children.

Four voluntary organisations are implementing the Childline service in Jharkhand and funds released to them is enclosed as Statement (See below). These organizations have reported 379 cases of interventions to provide these services to children during the last two years. No organisation has been black-listed in Jharkhand during the last five years under these schemes.
